This summer’s theme: Finding Inner Peace

Children attending this camp will have the opportunity to grow as writers. The goal is to inspire aspiring authors to use writing and other forms of communication to become more present and mindful. Campers and teachers together will explore how we can use our voices to bring peace to the local community and beyond.

Led by licensed teachers, campers will read age-appropriate mentor texts and receive instruction on key elements of writing, including voice, evidence, characterization, and style.

Register today at writingproject.uncc.edu.
$250/week per camper.