1. How did the increasing population of Europe lead to inventions?

2. The steam engine by James Watt produced power for machines. Explain two (2) ways that this invention was a BAD thing for people.

3. Using the last paragraph on the left hand side of the sheet (and the invention of the telephone that came later in this time period), explain how new inventions make old inventions obsolete.

4. Explain two (2) ways that kids working in factories alongside their parents was a BAD thing for the development of them and the nation.

5. People came to the city for work. Explain three (3) ways that city life and working the city was BAD for these people.

6. What is capitalism (look on your powerpoint handout if you don’t remember)? Why would these people in this new business environment like it?

7. Why would “pay the lead actors the same as the small parts” be against the concept of capitalism?

8. Explain why, despite all the hard times, the Industrial Revolution was an important time period to the development of the entire planet. (2-3 sentences)